

Relational Transactional Analyses, Plural

A Workshop with Charlotte Sills and Keith Tudor

Friday 4th April 2025

This workshop offers a rare opportunity to work with two exponents of different forms of relational transactional analysis (TA): Charlotte Sills who, with Helena Hargaden, has developed a relational TA informed by theories of the unconscious and child development, and Keith Tudor, who, with Graeme Summers, has developed a co-creative TA informed by field theory, constructivism and health psychology. Charlotte and Keith are colleagues and friends who enjoy playing with theory and robust discussions – and encouraging this in others. They are also both recipients – Charlotte with Helena, and Keith with Graeme – of the Eric Berne Memorial Award.

In this workshop, and in conjunction with the interests of the participants, Charlotte and Keith will present their respective theories, and discuss how they have been interpreted – and misinterpreted. There will be opportunities for discussion, demonstrations, presentation of clinical and other material, supervision and small group work.
